

FOR EVER AND FOR EVER

For ever and for ever! Through the years,
The long, long vista of the years, I gaze
Into eternity. A mystic haze
Shrouds the far state in glory! All life's
Fell from me as I look—its sudden tears
Are dried as they I think upon the days
When I shall walk abroad the silent ways
Into the light which never disappears

For ever and for ever! O my King,
Let not faith's vision fade from out
mine eyes! (throb)
Let not earth's pain or loss, each passing
Which is as fleeting as the hour last flies, (throb)
Keep me from watching till Thy hand
Lifts the portals wide into Thy Paradise!

HOW TO BE SAVED

Endless misery attaches to a mistake on the all-important question of being saved. People go about in bondage, in many cases in misery, hoping and fearing, trying to believe, and then falling back into doubt, until sometimes hope of ever getting into liberty is abandoned. But God wants all men to be saved, consciously forgiven for the past, and equipped for the future. This knowledge of sins forgiven is essential if evil is to be successfully contended with. The Witness of the Spirit that you are born of God will make you strong as nothing else can do.

To get this there must be an unconditional surrender to the Will of God, a complete turning from all known wrong, a readiness to put right everything within your power, and a simple trust that having complied with God's requirements you are accepted by Him. This faith will, if you have done your part, be honoured by God. He will save you. He will change your heart. And the blessedness of a real Salvation experience will dawn upon you. It is then your continual duty to walk in the light, and doing this you will grow in grace.

THE SEARCHLIGHT

Unto you that fear My Name shall the Sun of Righteousness arise with healing in His wings. They shall be Mine, saith the Lord of Hosts, in that day when I make up My jewels.

THE STAY-AT-HOME

"Who that tarrieth at home divided the spoil?" Psalm lxxviii. Some cannot take so stirring a part in the fight for God as they wish. For various reasons, and to their sorrow, they are debarred from an active part in the war against sin. But let all such be good cheer. They need not be entirely "out of it" as they think. The Psalm describes a battle for God. What achievements are God's on the side of the weak? He is then easily overcome. "The company of them that published it." The victorious warrior, at last, carried home the spoils, and the weak, who look no part in the actual fighting, Swords and spears are not the mightiest weapons in the world, no matter what military men may say. The Word of God, the power of the Gospel, the energies of the Holy Spirit are more potent forces. Who dares say this weak-

UNFAILING HARVEST

"Harvest, shall not come?" Genesis vii. 22.

ONCE again, we in Canada, have reason for thankfulness to God for a good harvest. Let us cultivate a spirit of thankfulness, and let the note of our song be, "Thou crownest the year with Thy goodness. Thy paths drop fatness."

Dependent on God

We get into the habit of regarding our food supplies as matters of course. The sunshine and the rain appear to many just part and parcel of the settled order of Nature. The truth is, we are utterly dependent upon God for the supply of each year's harvest. But for the guiding hand of God, there would be for us no ingathering. Destructive agencies might easily operate, breaking the whole state of life. If only the air were chilly always, and the skies lowering in winter, over all the faces of the globe there would be universal famine.

Have you ever contemplated the risks which attend every seed sowing? A farmer might take a seed of corn, before putting it into the ground for its adventurous career, and say to it, "There are many chances against thee. The soil may destroy thee, the bird may devour thee, the frost may kill thee, the rain may drown thee, the heat may shrivel thee up." Yet in spite of all these uncertainties, the ultimate result is guaranteed. God looks after things, and sees to it that there is a sufficient food supply year after year.

Many Hazards

Our harvests, in spite of vastly improved agricultural methods, are dependent on God. Science, in spite of all its progress, cannot always save us from the hazards to which we are always liable. The food of the world, as science says, is dependent not only on suitable weather, but on the fertilizing action of the winds. That not only showers are needed, and sunshine, but a suitable breeze is also necessary in order to secure a crop. The yield depends, so to speak, on a breath of wind, blowing at the proper season for the fertilizing of the corn. On what delicate processes do our harvests hang!

Whatever we gather, whatever we reap, is really of God's bounty. His word made the world in the first place, and by His continued power it is world. Out of the various ingredients of the soil and air, by means of the combined action of rain, sunshine, and wind, does He bring forth the food we need. There is not only a miracle of growth, but a proof of unending love. Just as really as I can feel the five thousand in the wilderness, so the Great Father feeds the multitudes today.

Better Than We Deserve

Should the harvest be poorer than usual, how much better is it than we deserve! Much or little, it is God's gracious gift to us, and it reaches us only because God is pleased to forgive us our sins. Do not let any one, however badly off, speak as if more were due to him. "It is of the Lord's mercies we are not consumed, because His compassions fail not." How thankful, then, should be for the least of God's mercies who have given their wrong-doing, forfeited every right to receive good at His hands. Oh, let the goodness of God this harvest-day lead you to repentance!

How worthy God is of your trust! Let a feeling of confidence be nourished within you. The harvest of this year is a pledge and guarantee that God will provide for you all, year after year, while doing your duty, you will trust in Him. He will give those things which are necessary to sustain the life which He has bestowed on us. Let us also trust Him in the larger promises He has made. Thank God, it is not of the uncertainties of the world there are shown absolutely dependable. God's Word is one.

Offerings of Trust

Sincere offerings of trust, therefore, should be from full hearts. Our answers should be like sweet incense ascending to the sky. Do not walk in darkness, so it is light and peace, the most acceptable offering men could offer to God, is a dissatisfied spirit. Repose in the goodness in the harvest by a gladness with love and vocal praise. Look out to the bow of an unfailling promise, this year's harvest field, and recognize fresh the unchanging love and goodness of God. Generous God! Give to us let us respond in the measure of His bounty by earnest thank love. Whatever our poverty or the meanness of our resources, we can render to Him the harvest of our hearts. How we ought to serve, worship, and adore Him! God's overflowing goodness requires the full surrender of your life to Him, a complete sacrifice of yourself on His altar.

POVERTY AND SICKNESS

What Two Salvationists Discovered When Visiting

Two Salvation Army Officers, visiting in a poor district, discovered a woman ill in bed and in such poverty that she, having no nightgown, was found to be wearing a shirt-sleeved night dress. There were seven children playing round the room, the youngest being one year old. Notwithstanding the suffering woman's condition the fight for life had to be carried on, and she was engaged in a task for which she would receive fourpence! The Salvationists sympathized as practical, as may be expected, and before the evening came they had bought flannellette and made a dress in which the sick woman was made comfortable. "Blessed Cry."

SOWING TIME ENDED

Reason as well as Scripture pronounces at the death of every sinner, "Let him that is filthy still." Here the worst of men reap only partially as they sow, this is a tale of probation, not of retribution, and therefore God had ordained many alleviating circumstances and ministries of mercy to palliate, as it were, the consequences of sin. But after death, the sowing time will be ended, and there will be no further hindrance to the harvest of good and evil, springing from the evil seed sown in this life. Do not deceive. For as surely as you reap to-day, according to what you sowed yesterday, so surely will you reap to-morrow what has intervened, so surely will you reap in eternity as you have sown in this life.

AN INTERNATIONAL VISITOR

COMMISSIONER LAMB GIVES INSPIRING PARTICULARS OF SOUL-SAVING WORK IN MANY LANDS—"KEEP FIRST THINGS FIRST"—INTRODUCTION TO NEW FRIENDS

GREETINGS FROM THE GENERAL AND MRS. BOOTH AND THE CHIEF OF THE STAFF

COMMISSIONER LAMB is already well known to many of our readers. Those who know him best esteem him most. By way of introduction to those who are not already acquainted with him, we do not think we can do better than quote a few paragraphs from a character-sketch which is the writer's pleasure to make it so remarkably successful, even in what appear on the surface to be entirely with the soldiers and in war relief work at home, for the service which The Salvation Army is, under the blessing of God, everywhere giving to the people. But it must be remembered that the foundation of all is the spiritual and soul-saving work which brought The Salvation Army into existence, and without which those character-sketches which make it so remarkably successful, even in what appear on the surface to be entirely the officers and the Chief of the Staff is a fact that speaks for itself.

"How is The General?" "I am pleased to say he is greatly improved in health. The strain upon him during the past few years has naturally been exceedingly heavy, but God has wonderfully sustained him. I saw him and Mrs. Booth just immediately before I left, and they sent their warmest greetings to all Officers and comrades and friends in these Territories. They feel keenly the sufferings of the people in war-torn Europe. They are, of course, anxious for the coming of peace and are busily engaged in thinking and planning means to help in the reconstruction of society in the intelligent countries when the conflict is over. "The Chief of the Staff, too, is well. He recalls with pleasure his coming to Canada two years ago, and I have been glad to hear since coming that there are pleasant recollections of his visit, especially amongst Officers."

FOREIGN FIELDS

"What about the other Territories whose affairs pass through your hands?" "Can you give me some news of their doings?" "Yes, with pleasure, because the news I have to give is good. In India, Commissioner Booth-Tucker, who is anxious to be more and more closely alive to the spiritual necessities of the times, is seeing some very gratifying results. The devotion of our Officers, both European and Indian-born, is beyond all praise. The country is hard hit by the war and a tremendous burden of extra work has been thrown upon our people. The furloughing of almost all our Officers are long overdue, and there is no prospect in the immediate future of their finding rest. We have been hoping to supply reinforcements, but almost everywhere conditions are about the same. "A contingent of Officers and others has been sent with the Expeditionary Force now in Mesopotamia and around Baghdad. The General has high hopes that this is the beginning of a permanent occupation by The Salvation Army of 'The Land of the Two Rivers.' "It is also possible that within the near future the Blood-and-Fire Flag will be unfurled in Jerusalem. Just before I left London an appointment was about to be made which would assure this."

Commissioner Lamb

material branches of its work must disappear. It is the spirit which makes and keeps alive. Without spiritual impulse and spiritual sustenance we could not have reached, and would speedily lose, all the eminence in blessing and helpfulness which God has so graciously given to us.

"How are things on this line in the Old Country?"

SOUL-SAVING WORK GOES ON

"I am glad to say, that in spite of the pre-occupation of the war and the energies which The Salvation Army is throwing into war relief agencies in Great Britain, soul-saving work goes on with unabated vigor. The war has made this phase a little more difficult perhaps, but I have no hesitation in saying that our activity is greater now than at any time in the past, plus the activities forced upon us by the war. New opportunities have arisen to meet which we have had to adapt ourselves. You know how wonderful is the adaptability of our system, and we have met the emergency with little loss of time or energy."

"Was there not a feeling that the heart-stirrings and anxieties of the war would cause a widespread turning to God?" "Here and there there have been wonderful outpourings of the Spirit of God, but I must say that in some respects the war did not at first provoke the interest in spiritual things which some people confidently expected. We have even noticed a certain relaxation, caused probably by the spectacle of the bloodshed and of agony and destruction. There is everywhere a kind of mental and mental exhaustion which does not contribute to high spiritual states. But in spite of all this, we have observed a gradual deepening of spiritual interest during the last several months, which did not characterize the early years of the war."

"One of the signs of the times, in this respect, may be found in the 'Two Days with God' which The General and Mrs. Booth conducted in Bristol last month. These gatherings, although the second day of the series was the great public holiday of summer-time in the Old Land, were crowded and those present report that they were characterized by a very high spiritual tone and evident intense desire to make progress in knowledge and love of God. That over two hundred

The work among the criminal tribes in India is nothing short of wonderful. The latest letter from Commissioner Booth-Tucker, concerning this, gives some most interesting information. "You will be interested," he says, "to know that our Agricultural Settlement for Crims at Sunjiparam, near Bapatla, of which Rohillard is in charge, is doing splendidly. There are about 1,300 people settled on the land, in seven little villages, closely adjoining each other. They are growing rice, ragi, and ground nuts, and are doing exceptionally well with all. The income in this Settlement from their various harvests amounting to about fifteen rupees per family per month, which afforded a good living without their having to resort to crime. The effect of this has been that by the good blessing of God a beautiful spiritual work is going on amongst the people, and at our recent visit we had a result of over two hundred of the settlers to the Pentecost Form. Of course, with the war, it is a case of 'line upon line; here a little and there a little,' but still, the change in the conduct of the settlers and their freedom from crime is a real triumph. We were much encouraged by what we saw."

THE BEST CROP

"Cocoanuts, corn, rubber, sugarcane, mulberry, tomatoes, potatoes, are all crops of the best crop in which we are interested is the crop of souls, which is only, we believe, the beginning of the Harvest amongst the Crims in South India. There Yelland, who is a real 'line upon line; here a little and there a little,' but still, the change in the conduct of the settlers and their freedom from crime is a real triumph. We were much encouraged by what we saw."

Great Programme of Extension of Social Work for Soldiers---New Enterprises Include Convalescent Homes in England, London Hostel Under Canadian Flag

EXPEDITION TO SIBERIA AND WOMEN OFFICERS AND WORKERS FOR CANADIAN IN ENGLAND AND FRANCE

LAST WEEK it was announced that a proposal was in hand for the launching of an appeal for money to be expended on Salvation Army Work for our soldiers. Definite arrangements have now been made for Canada East (including Newfoundland) and West to join in a Drive for a million dollars. Committees are already in course of formation, and steps are being taken to ensure that the work for which support is being asked is placed before the public as it ought to be, for it is felt it has only to be known to at once receive the most generous support of every one who cares at all for the welfare of our splendid men.

It is confidently anticipated that it will be found that the ladies and gentlemen who are in a position to give special aid to the Drive by serving on the Committees, or by otherwise lending their names and influence in aid of it, as well as by giving their dollars as they may be able, will readily come forward to support so worthy an object.

On the part of every Salvationist there will be, we are even more confident, that whole-hearted readiness to do anything that is required of him or her which will make their share in the effort likewise a great success.

(1) The work already done speaks for itself. The best "boosters" of The Salvation Army's Work among the troops in the Old Country and in France are the returned men themselves.

(2) That military testimony places a very high value upon the work. Field Marshall Haig himself, writing to The General, said: "I am glad to have the opportunity of congratulating The Salva-

EVERY DOLLAR WILL BE MADE TO DO A DOLLAR'S WORK

adequate return may be expected for the amount now asked for. The objective of the Drive is a million dollars, to be spent on the following:—

- (1) The establishment under the Canadian Flag of more Huts in England and France.
- (2) Canadian Soldiers' Hostels in the City of London, England.
- (3) Homes in the Old Land for Convalescent Canadian Soldiers.
- (4) Additions to the chain of Hostels for Soldiers (on service and returned) in Canada till it reaches from ocean to ocean. Also one in St. John's, Newfoundland.
- (5) Comforts for men in Hospital.

(6) Homes in Canada for Children of Soldiers who, whether by reason of being orphaned, or otherwise, need guardianship.

(7) Extension of Hospital Visitation.
(8) Preparation for dealing with the situation which will arise when demobilization is begun.

(9) The immediate dispatch of a party of Officers to Siberia with the means necessary to co-operate with the military authorities in any way possible for the well-being of the Canadian troops.

(10) The immediate sending of Officers and Workers (men and women) to England and France to staff the Huts, Hostel, and Convalescent Homes that are to be established, as well as to reinforce those at places where work is already in operation.

For this purpose, as will be seen in another column, volunteers are being called.

Pray that God's blessing may be upon all the efforts that shall be put forth to obtain the necessary money, and that He may enable The Salvation Army to be all the blessing, help, and comfort to our men that it desires.

This is the most recently opened of the "From Ocean to Ocean" Chain's Hostels for Service-men.

What The Salvation Army Does With the Troops

Salvation Army Huts, operated by a married Officer, his wife, and two or three women assistants, provide hot drinks, home-made pies, cakes, candies, and many other of the little extras which vary the monotony of military fare; they also provide facilities for recreation, reading and writing. Meetings are held, as well as suitable entertainments arranged as opportunity may offer. The women mend clothes and mother the men; they also visit hospitals and do all they can to cheer and comfort the wounded and sick.

The women of The Salvation Army were the first in the field at this kind of work, being with the British Army in France one week after war was declared. Canadian Salvation Army Chaplains and other workers followed quickly.

In the villages and cities back of the line The Salvation Army Huts are centres of helpful influence and of strengthening and recuperation of mind and body.

The Hostels in the big cities not only provide good food and comfortable lodging, but are veritable Havens of Refuge for stranger-soldiers who may be on leave and who would, but for these Homes from home, be exposed to manifold temptations.

MINISTERING ANGELS

"The Slum Sisters Help to Lighten Burdens of the Poor"

To the dwellers in decent homes who occupy news in fashionable churches there is something strange and quaint in the language they hear and read from the Bible, language which habitually refers to the devil as an actual personality, and to the struggle against sin and uncleanness as if it were a hand-to-hand wrestle with the legions of hell. To our Slum Sisters who dwell in an atmosphere heavy with urges, among people sodden with drink, in quarters where sin and uncleanness are universal, all these Biblical sayings are real. They dwell in the midst of hell, and in their daily warfare with a hundred devils it seems incredible to them that any one can doubt the existence of either one or the other.

The Slum Sister is what her name implies, the Sister of the Slum. They too, in Apostolic fashion, two and two, living in a couple of the same kind of dens or hovels as are occupied by the people themselves, differing only in the cleanliness and order, and the few articles of furniture which the Slum Sisters have, live all the year round, visiting the sick, looking after the children, showing the women how to keep themselves and their homes decent, often discarding the sick mother's duties themselves; cultivating peace, breathing temperance, counselling in temptations, and, especially, preaching Salvation. "From a communion by the Salvation Army of the Poor." "The Better Housing of the People."

WEST-TORONTO

We had good Harvest Festival meetings on Sunday, Sept. 22nd. In the afternoon Sergeant-Major Gieser gave an address. Colonel and Mrs. Hoxe conducted the night singing, and seven soloists at the Army Band. New recruits were received, that the Salvation Army had been wounded.

THE WAR CRY

BRITISH WOMEN CADETS

March through St. John's to the Women's Meeting in Regent Hall, conducted by the Chief of the Staff, led by a Woman's Band, and a Band of Penitents at the end.

To welcome the Cadets the Regent Hall was filled with Salvationists from distant parts of London. Adding the Chief throughout the evening were Colonel Bagin, whose recent promotion and appointment to the General Secretary of the British Empire, and taking part were Colonel Pearce, the Chief Secretary; Lieutenant Colonel Knott, and other Officers. Colonel Knott, who has just been appointed a military chaplain, made his first and last public appearance in St. John's leaving for Egypt. His promotion to a Lieutenant Colonel has been noted this week.

Introducing the Cadets, the Chief gave an analysis of the districts from which they have come to be trained, the largest quota being from London, namely thirty-eight. He looked forward to the next one-sided session. That would be when the boys came home. This is, of course, the fourth year in succession that no men Cadets have been included. The framework of the Chief's address consisted of an anecdote on the way Cadets, and his remarks bore on various characteristics of their service and training.

In addition to selected Officers representative Cadets spoke, and the meeting closed with more than a score of speakers at the pentment-form.

Some Interesting Facts

There are eight children of Salvation Army Officers included in the sessions. One of the Cadets was a monophony operator, another a lecturer and another a music mistress. A considerable number are typists and stenographers, and several can speak foreign languages, which will qualify them for service abroad. A certain number of the prisoners at the Toronto Municipal Farm are allowed to go out to work daily for the farmer and other employers of labour, retaining the full value of their earnings. THE WAR CRY

The Field Secretary in Newfoundland

Crowded Halls—Meetings Full of Enthusiasm—A Tragic Happening—Rough Seas—Splendid Soul-Saving Victories

NOTE: The Field Secretary in Newfoundland

WE have reason to be grateful to the Commissioner for not only arranging for the Field Secretary, but for the presence of the Newfoundland Congress and the further consideration in allowing him to remain with us several weeks longer to visit Corps in the Dominion.

St. John's III. was the first appointment filled by the Field Secretary, accompanied by the writer, on Thursday, Sept. 20th. St. John's III. was the first appointment filled by the Field Secretary, accompanied by the writer, on Thursday, Sept. 20th.

These include the erection of a number of flats in various centres, especially in the interests of the women in kind and the throngs of newly-arrived American troops. In fact, at one centre in the South of England we shall have, when the present plans are completed, most up-to-date hutments for the Q.M.A.C.'s. Hostels and Huts are to be provided at Dover and Liverpool (for U.S.A. troops) and in the next event, a splendid crowd being under the same roof.

A United Holiness meeting was held at St. John's III. the next evening, a splendid crowd being under the same roof. This timely visit gave the Brigadier a chance of seeing many of the men of the Congress who had not permitted his greeting before.

Bell Island came next. What is a very nice drive to Port-au-Pas, where the boat is taken, gave signs of a rough time crossing Conception Bay. Though the steady boat swung out into the foaming billows. Though a ride of only about twenty minutes, a number of people were very sick. The sea was so rough that we could not land at the regular wharf, and had to go to the company pier. Commandant Sainsbury, who went to the regular wharf, rushed to the other pier in time to greet us upon our landing.

Our first meeting was on Saturday night. Though the meetings are not regularly held on this night, an excellent crowd gathered to greet us, but no one was present. There was a good influence in the meeting.

On Thursday we were at Port de Grave. This we reached by a four-mile carriage drive. Commandant Sainsbury accompanied us. This town is most picturesque. We have a good view of the town from the pier, and it was full of most attentive people. A beautiful spirit prevailed.

At Clark's Beach we had a full house. The Brigadier's lecture was listened to with deep interest. There was very deep conviction in the meeting and one soul rushed forward to the Mercy Seat.

The school has just opened with Lieutenant Percy as teacher. Mrs. Chas. Snow, a soldier and nurse, is the only doctor of this place at present.

We were at Dildo on Saturday and Sunday. Adjutant and Mrs. Tuck are the Corps' Officers. Cadet Tuck the teacher. Here the school house, under the direction of the Adjutant, is being made over, and will be finished soon and very comfortable.

The Field Secretary and the writer were welcomed, and the Brigadier's lecture was listened to with very deep interest. Crowds were large, thousands of a long way to come as the Hall is between two towns, Dildo and New Harbour. The school started here on Sept. 10th, and the prospects are bright. The Corps Officers, Teacher, Band, and Soldiers, He was delighted with the splendid results. Surely it can be said, "Bell Island is alive with God, and the Army has scored another 'Over the Top' victory."

On Thursday we were at Port de Grave. This we reached by a four-mile carriage drive. Commandant Sainsbury accompanied us. This town is most picturesque. We have a good view of the town from the pier, and it was full of most attentive people. A beautiful spirit prevailed.

At Clark's Beach we had a full house. The Brigadier's lecture was listened to with deep interest. There was very deep conviction in the meeting and one soul rushed forward to the Mercy Seat.

The school has just opened with Lieutenant Percy as teacher. Mrs. Chas. Snow, a soldier and nurse, is the only doctor of this place at present.

We were at Dildo on Saturday and Sunday. Adjutant and Mrs. Tuck are the Corps' Officers. Cadet Tuck the teacher. Here the school house, under the direction of the Adjutant, is being made over, and will be finished soon and very comfortable.

The Field Secretary and the writer were welcomed, and the Brigadier's lecture was listened to with very deep interest. Crowds were large, thousands of a long way to come as the Hall is between two towns, Dildo and New Harbour. The school started here on Sept. 10th, and the prospects are bright. The Corps Officers, Teacher, Band, and Soldiers, He was delighted with the splendid results. Surely it can be said, "Bell Island is alive with God, and the Army has scored another 'Over the Top' victory."

These include the erection of a number of flats in various centres, especially in the interests of the women in kind and the throngs of newly-arrived American troops. In fact, at one centre in the South of England we shall have, when the present plans are completed, most up-to-date hutments for the Q.M.A.C.'s. Hostels and Huts are to be provided at Dover and Liverpool (for U.S.A. troops) and in the next event, a splendid crowd being under the same roof.

A United Holiness meeting was held at St. John's III. the next evening, a splendid crowd being under the same roof. This timely visit gave the Brigadier a chance of seeing many of the men of the Congress who had not permitted his greeting before.

INTERNATIONAL VISITOR

"We have," continued the Commissioner, "made a very good start in China and the Orient. Our Pioneer Officers have been rewarded with many striking conversions. There is every prospect now of a great work being developed and of the General's highest hopes being more than realized. Faith is high for an outpouring of the Holy Ghost upon the people of this great land. Japan, Korea and the East Indies also, in spite of problems peculiar to the several 'Oriental' races, are reporting advances. The Salvation Army in these countries is ably with red Salvation vitality."

Two Striking Events

"In New Zealand our work is developing as well as might be expected under the best trying circumstances. A couple of weeks with reference to the Salvation Army have occurred very recently. Christchurch, New Zealand, was called 'The Red Jersey Appeal' in the interest of the war funds of the Salvation Army. This appeal brought forth a wonderful response. About £100,000 ($500,000) was secured. A striking feature of the campaign was the fact that the Central Committee, out of respect to the Army's principles, prohibited everything that looked like lottery. Commissioner Hoxe has recently reported that by invitation he attended an Intercession meeting in the Anglican Cathedral at Wellington. In the course of his remarks the Bishop took occasion to say, referring to the Commissioner, 'that he loved to see men like his Salvation Army friend as much at home in the Cathedral as speaking on the square. The Commissioner also reports a number of conversions at the training camps. At two camps recently thirty-one soldier boys sought Salvation.'

Soul-Saving to Fore

"Australia is keeping the soul-saving work well to the fore. Commissioner Hoxe reports that a series of tent meetings have been held at Melbourne and Sydney, were attended by greater crowds than ever before and that the penitents' forth have been lined with sectors."

Referring again to Great Britain, the Commissioner said that there is observable everywhere a striking lack of poverty and unemployment. "The causes that have brought about this very desirable condition," he remarks, "to be most heartily deplored, but the fact remains. There are many of us who have strong hopes that it will never be a return to those conditions which left thousands homeless and wandering on the streets (and one of thousands have a strong sense of want). The drinking facilities have been much reduced and there is, therefore, very much improved conditions along with the bright visions for drunkenness in the courts of Great Britain have fallen off about two-thirds. The stories of the men who have been given a long way to come as the Hall is between two towns, Dildo and New Harbour. The school started here on Sept. 10th, and the prospects are bright. The Corps Officers, Teacher, Band, and Soldiers, He was delighted with the splendid results. Surely it can be said, "Bell Island is alive with God, and the Army has scored another 'Over the Top' victory."

A United Holiness meeting was held at St. John's III. the next evening, a splendid crowd being under the same roof. This timely visit gave the Brigadier a chance of seeing many of the men of the Congress who had not permitted his greeting before.

Bell Island came next. What is a very nice drive to Port-au-Pas, where the boat is taken, gave signs of a rough time crossing Conception Bay. Though the steady boat swung out into the foaming billows. Though a ride of only about twenty minutes, a number of people were very sick. The sea was so rough that we could not land at the regular wharf, and had to go to the company pier. Commandant Sainsbury, who went to the regular wharf, rushed to the other pier in time to greet us upon our landing.
